Description

A handsome antique Victorian rosewood rise and fall piano stool with deep buttoned leather seat dating from circa 1880. In wonderfully figured rosewood it stands on elegant tapered and turned legs united by turned cross stretchers. With a beautifully aged and good quality deep buttoned leather seat. The stool is fully adjustable in height and rises to 53cm, smoothly on a Marsden's Leeds patent iron mechanism via two turned knobs. Stamped underneath with makers numbers. This a very attractive and comfortable stool in good condition and ready for use. Construction/Wood Rosewood Condition Report In good condition with wonderful figuring and good patina. Leather in nicely aged condition, upholstery good. General wear and marks commensurate with age. Dimensions Seat Width: 45cm Width at Handles: 52 Seat Depth: 35cm Max Height: 53cm Min Height: 45cm
