Description

A pair of large copper and brass candlesticks in the Arts & Crafts or Aesthetic taste. Designed by Christopher Dresser, circa 1890. Manufacture attributed to Benham and Froud, though they are apparently unmarked. The candlesticks stand approx. 21cms and are in very good original condition with their original ebonised handles, and just the odd light dent to the copper (see photos). Veritable late 19thC design classics!
