Description

A beautiful English Chippendale-style mahogany tea table, dating from around 1920, showcasing elegant craftsmanship and refined proportions. The shaped oval top rests on finely carved cabriole legs with acanthus leaf decoration, connected by a lower shaped undertier for additional display or storage. Crafted from quality mahogany with a rich, warm patina, this table embodies timeless sophistication — perfect for use as a tea table, occasional table, or side table in a traditional or eclectic interior. Excellent vintage condition. Structurally solid with a polished surface showing only light wear consistent with age.
