Description

A delightful Victorian mahogany side table, dating from around 1890, featuring an elegant six-legged design and a beautifully shaped bevelled edge top. The gently curved cabriole legs are united by a matching lower shelf, providing both stability and an extra display surface. Crafted from quality mahogany with a warm, rich tone, this table exudes late Victorian charm — a perfect accent piece for a living room, hallway, or reading corner. Very good antique condition. Structurally solid and polished, showing only minor surface marks consistent with age and use.
