Description

A fine set of four Regency side chairs, dating from around 1820, crafted in solid beech wood and newly upholstered in a soft coral pink fabric with a delicate gold motif. The chairs feature elegant scroll top rails and finely carved central splats — classic Regency detailing that adds refinement and character. Standing on turned front legs and gently swept back sabre legs, this graceful set captures the sophisticated simplicity of the early 19th century. Ideal for a dining room, study, or sitting area, blending comfort with timeless style. Seat height: 46 cm. Very good antique condition. Solid and sturdy with recently upholstered seats. Minor signs of age consistent with period.
