Description

This well-structured Karachov Kazak rug shows exceptional use of spacing and colour. The ivory mihrab in the centre matches well with the soft red around it, and although it is not the most densely decorated piece, this helps points to the age of this rug. The generous spacing draws attention to the traditional motifs. Some of patterns, like the hooked boxes, shows signs of wear, but that is to be expected on a rug woven in the mid 19th century. You can find this exact piece displayed in Brian McDonald's Book 'Treasures of the Black Tent' on page 243 - colour plate 186. Size: 148cm x 107cm Age: Mid 19th Century Condition - Good - Low pile - Central wear Stock No: SG-KARP0724
