Description

An exceptional pair of Victorian side chairs, dating from around 1880, finely crafted in solid mahogany. Each chair features superbly detailed hand-carved decoration, with scrolling foliage, floral motifs, and baluster details to the backrest. The craftsmanship and depth of carving highlight the quality of late 19th-century English furniture making. The chairs stand on turned and carved front legs, joined by square stretchers, and retain a rich, warm patina developed over time. Elegant and sturdy, this pair would make a striking addition to any hallway, study, or period interior. Seat height: 47 cm Condition: Excellent antique condition. Solid and stable with minor wear consistent with age and use.
