Description

A charming Victorian children's commode chair, dating from around 1880, beautifully crafted in solid mahogany. The chair features elegant scroll arms, turned front legs, and a decorative spindle backrest with carved detail. The seat lifts to reveal the original ceramic commode bowl, a rare surviving feature in excellent condition. This delightful piece captures the craftsmanship and character of the Victorian era and would make a perfect decorative accent, collector's item, or nursery display chair. Seat height: 41 cm Very good antique condition with light age-related marks. The frame is solid and stable, and the ceramic insert is intact.
