Description

An exceptional mid-19th century Victorian circular breakfast table, beautifully crafted in richly figured rosewood with a superb natural grain and deep lustrous patina. The tilt-top design features a striking round surface with stunning book-matched veneers that highlight the warmth and character of the rosewood. It rests upon an elegant tri-form platform base with finely carved scroll feet and acanthus leaf details — a hallmark of quality craftsmanship from the period. This table combines both functionality and refinement, ideal as a centrepiece in a dining room, bay window, or elegant breakfast area. The tilt-top mechanism remains smooth and secure, allowing the piece to be displayed upright when not in use. Dimensions 114cm x 112 cm Height 73 cm
