Description

An early 19th century boxwood pill silverer. The removable top is secured with four lugs and the whole piece stands on a stepped circular foot. These pill silverers were used by apothecaries, having made their pills, they would be moisturised with mucilage of acacia and then put in these containers with a silver leaf, gently rolling the pills within, which would coat them ready for storage in a bottle. It is in very good condition for its age with no major damages. It has developed a beautiful colour and patina through years of use. There are some minor knocks and marks but nothing detrimental and it displays well. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Tracked UK Delivery £7
