Description

A lovely mahogany spice or apothecary cabinet dating from the late 18th century. It has an open front with a series of 9 small drawers, each with brass drop handles, below 6 pigeon holes with shaped dividers. The sides have brass carrying handles and there are also brass brackets on the back where it has been wall hung at some point. It is an excellent quality piece made from well figured timbers and the drawers have been made with the finest dovetail joints. It has had some alterations and repairs over the years but it is an attractive item nonetheless. It is in good condition with a wonderful rich patina. There are some signs of age and use, some small chips and knocks and minor splits but no major damages and overall it displays very well. It has been cleaned and given a gentle polish and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
