Description

A stylish and unusual oval-shaped walnut drinks cabinet, dating from the early 20th century. This elegant piece combines the charm of a traditional display table with the functionality of a small drinks cabinet or bottle holder. Crafted from richly toned walnut, the cabinet features beaded carved details, curved glass panels, and a removable oval tray top. The interior is accessed through two hinged glazed doors, making it perfect for storing bottles, glassware, or collectibles. It stands gracefully on cabriole legs, adding a refined touch typical of colonial-style furniture. Very good antique condition with minor age-related marks. Structurally sound, clean interior, and rich patina to the wood.
