Description

A fine 19th-century French set of hand-forged wrought iron fire tools, comprising tongs, shovel, poker and fork. Each piece features beautifully crafted spiral and lattice-twist handles with decorative collars and hooked finials — classic examples of rural French blacksmithing. Height 68 cm, Max Width 14 cm Richly patinated from age and use, these tools are both functional and decorative, perfect for a period fireplace, country home or rustic interior. Good antique condition with age-related wear and oxidation consistent with long use. All tools are sturdy and usable.
