Description

A striking pair of antique brass-framed wall mirrors in the Neoclassical Revival style. The rectangular mirrors are set within finely cast surrounds, richly decorated with urns, floral rosettes, ribbon details, and a central mask crest. At each inner corner, the frame features a distinctive crown-like detailing with radiating fan motifs, suggestive of scallop shells. The brass retains a mellow patina, highlighting the crisp casting, while the original mirror plates show attractive foxing consistent with age.
