Description

A fine quality Victorian burr walnut games table, beautifully figured and richly coloured. The rectangular hinged top with moulded and carved edge opens to reveal a green baize-lined interior, creating an elegant games surface. The frieze is adorned with carved scroll details, supported by a boldly turned and carved pedestal base terminating in cabriole legs with scroll feet. A superb example of Victorian craftsmanship, combining both decorative appeal and practical use. Measurements: Height 76 cm × Width 102 cm × Depth 50 cm Circa: 1860–1880 Origin: England Materials: Burr walnut, green baize Placement & Styling Suggestions This versatile games table works beautifully in: A living room or library, styled with antique playing cards or crystal decanters. A study or gentleman's room, paired with Victorian chairs and warm lighting. A hallway or bay window, used as a decorative console when closed. A hospitality or boutique setting, offering elegant period charm and function. Pair with: Victorian armchairs or a mahogany card chair set for an authentic arrangement. Brass candleholders or an antique chess set for atmosphere and texture.
