Description

Georgian Chippendale Style Parcel-Gilt Mahogany Pier Mirror, Late Victorian, c.1900 A handsome late 19th to early 20th century wall mirror in the Georgian Chippendale style. The mahogany veneered fretwork frame is parcel-gilt, surrounding an oblong mirror plate with a gilt inner border. The crested top is centred by a Hoho bird cartouche, with a shaped apron below. Fitted with a chain for hanging, and retaining the original mirror plate with a light, attractive foxing. An elegant decorative mirror, in good condition, well presented and ready for use. Dimensions Frame: approx. 99.5 cm (39.1") tall × 56.5 cm (22.25") wide × 4 cm (1.75") deep Mirror plate: approx. 58 cm (22.75") × 38 cm (15.1") Condition Good condition overall, commensurate with age. Structurally sound. Minor marks and blemishes to the frame. Fine scratch to the crest, small loss to a fret tip (bottom right), and some light overpainting to the gilt. Original glass with a little foxing, adding character. Cleaned, waxed, and ready for use. As with all antique furniture, signs of age and use should be expected, but this remains a well-preserved and highly decorative mirror.
