Description

An exquisite Edwardian occasional chair, dating from the early 20th century, beautifully crafted from beech wood and showcasing fine floral inlay detailing on both the seat and backrest. The chair features a decorative carved crest with turned spindle gallery, elegant curved side supports, and beautifully turned front legs — a wonderful example of period English craftsmanship. This statement piece combines elegance with delicate design, perfect for a bedroom, hallway, or sitting room as a display or accent chair. Seat height: 33 cm. Excellent antique condition. Beautiful patina, solid frame, and fine detailing throughout. Minimal age-related wear consistent with age.
