Item Reference: SA1175819

Date of manufacture: 19th Century

Description

A superb example of mid 19th century Minton Circa 1845. The jug stands approx 34cm tall. Bulbous body has clear mould seams and the flow blue underglaze pattern continues within the mouth and lip of the jug. The handle has ribbed edges and an acanthus leaf base. The period of grand tours many manufacturers were trying to replicate images of goods seen in Europe. Minton like many others also did this ... The pattern displayed on the jug is deemed to represent Italian marble. The jug can be viewed in the shop, simply call or message to confirm an appointment time.
