Description

This Good Quality 19thC Rosewood High Backed Library Armchair is sure to make a statement wherever placed and used in your home. Standing on chunky, turned, and faceted front legs, this high-quality chair displays all the hall marks of being produced in a fine workshop. The sturdy brass castors add further interest. The high throne like back is topped off with a nicely carved detail to its top. The curvaceous arms have upholstered pads to them to aid elbow comfort, whilst reading or indeed holding a glass of your favourite tipple! The row of finials underneath the seat rails is a further refinement to the design. The fabric, being in the style of William Morris with cornflower blue foliage works so well with the deep hues of the richly figured Rosewood timber. This chair is presented in particularly good condition, ready for many years of use. All our prices include free delivery to Mainland England & Wales. Stock No 1518. Circa 19thC. Dimensions: Width 23in/58cm, Depth 27in/68cm, Height 51in/129cm, Seat Height 17in/43cm, Width Between Arms 18in/46cm, Seat Depth 16in/41cm.
