Description

An original and matching-number Colt Model 1860 Army .44 calibre percussion revolver, manufactured in Hartford, Connecticut during the American Civil War. The round 8-inch barrel is roll-marked "ADDRESS COL. SAM L COLT NEW-YORK U.S. AMERICA," the frame bears "COLT'S PATENT," and the rebated six-shot cylinder is stamped "COLT'S PATENT No 84685" with traces of the battle scene and patent legend "PAT. SEPT. 10th 1850." Crucially, this example shows the faint remains of the U.S. Ordnance inspector's grip cartouche on the left walnut grip, together with small inspector / sub-inspector letters (including a stamped 'c') on the brass grip frame. These marks indicate U.S. Army acceptance rather than purely civilian sale, confirming this is a true martial Colt Army revolver from the Civil War period. The revolver retains its original brass trigger guard and backstrap and all major components carry matching serial number 84685, including wedge and cylinder. Surfaces throughout show an untouched, even, dark patina with typical service wear. Mechanism complete & in working condition but not test-fired. Length approx. 14 in (35.5 cm). Calibre .44 percussion. A very honest U.S. milit...
