Description

This Set of Six Art Deco Solid Silver Coffee Spoons, each topped with a vibrant green jade finial, is a beautiful marriage of classic English silversmithing and eastern-inspired luxury. Fully hallmarked for Birmingham, 1934, and crafted by respected makers William Suckling Ltd, this set brings elegant period design into your hands. Housed in a navy blue leatherette box, the interior is lined with silk and deep blue velvet. * Jade is historically valued for its symbolism of harmony, longevity, and protection, adding both spiritual and decorative significance.

Measurements: Length: 3 1/2" (approx. 9cm) Total weight: 190g In good condition – All spoons are in excellent antique condition with gentle surface marks typical of their age. The jade finials are intact, polished, and securely mounted. There are no chips or cracks to the Jade. The fitted case is well preserved with light wear to the exterior and minimal fading inside.
