Description

This wonderful pair of Edwardian mahogany corner chairs, dating back to circa 1900, are a testament to the fine craftsmanship of the era. Each chair features elegant bow backs adorned with boxwood line inlay and oval satinwood panels, adding a touch of sophistication and intricate detailing. The newly upholstered seats not only enhance the comfort but also bring a fresh and luxurious feel to the chairs, making them perfect for modern use while retaining their antique charm. The chairs stand on gracefully flowing cabriole legs, a hallmark of Edwardian design, which lend an air of refinement and elegance to the pieces. These legs are united by turned cross stretchers, providing both stability and an additional decorative element. The combination of the rich mahogany wood, boxwood inlay, and satinwood panels creates a visually stunning contrast, showcasing the expert craftsmanship and attention to detail that went into their creation. Offered in excellent showroom condition, this pair of corner chairs is ideally suited for use as bedroom chairs, where they can add a touch of elegance and historical charm. Alternatively, they make perfect statement pieces in the corner of a...
