Description

Superb 18thC Dutch Polychrome Delft Kneeling Bishop Candlestick Holder Figurine Brief Description: This is a fabulous late 18th-century Dutch Delft Polychrome Faience Candlestick Holder in the form of a kneeling Bishop. The fabulous piece measures an impressive 9.1 inches tall, and it is embellished with magnificent hand-painted polychrome colours, depicting flowers, foliage, swirls and the Bishop's hat and face features. Painted in colours of manganese, blues, greens, reds and yellows. Signed to the base for the factory of 'Johannes Van Duijn' (Dutch, 1764-1773). It is a piece that has been treasured and displayed in a Delft display cabinet for many, many years. Johannes Van Duijn Biography The last owners of De Porceleyne Schotel were father Johannes and son IJsbrand van Duijn. Johannes van Duijn registered his mark, IVDuyn, in 1764 at the Delft city council. According to Harvard, Johannes probably marked most of his pieces, as many objects bear witness today.[13] The objects produced during this final stage were mainly polychrome rond de bosse figures of an exceptional richness. This pair of polychrome figures of prancing horses is a wonderful example. This mo...
