Description

This exquisite dressing table mirror is crafted from richly figured satinwood, celebrated for its warm golden hue and naturally shimmering grain. The generously sized oval mirror is supported by graceful scrolling uprights, each accented with delicate satinwood marquetry rosettes. The mirror frame itself features fine foliate inlay, adding refined decorative detail without overwhelming the piece's elegant silhouette. Below, the satinwood base houses two smoothly functioning drawers, each adorned with intricate neoclassical-style inlaid swags and fitted with original brass knobs. A central oval reserve with radiating marquetry provides a striking focal point. The entire piece is elevated on turned satinwood feet, giving it a light, elevated presence ideal for a dressing table or chest. A beautiful example of high-quality craftsmanship, this satinwood mirror combines utility with decorative appeal, making it a standout addition to any period interior or fine furniture collection.
