Description

A solid and characterful early 20th-century bank of drawers, likely originating from a workshop in the 1920s. Crafted from African mahogany with a rich, time-worn finish, the piece features fourteen drawers fitted with brass handles. The drawers are dovetailed and retain subtle signs of workshop use, including wear and surface markings. The cabinet stands on a solid plinth base, its simple rectangular form typical of early industrial and craftsman-made furniture. Perfect for use as a storage piece in a studio, office, retail interior, or home workspace. H: 96 W: 130 D: 47 cm
