Description

An early 20th-century brass and glass countertop display cabinet, originally used in a pharmacy or medical setting. The cabinet features a brass frame with a stepped plinth base, glazed panels on all sides and top, and two removable glass shelves. It retains its original white ceramic handle and latch. The cabinet has developed a naturally aged patina, giving it a warm, authentic appearance. A beautifully simple and functional piece, ideal for use in a retail or residential interior to display smaller objects, toiletries, or collectibles.
