Description

A very good quality late 19th Century French Kingwood veneered serpentine fronted, marble topped vitrine. Having scrolling foliate gilded ormolu mounts, adjustable glass shelves within and raised on elegant cabriole legs, circa 1890. Attributed to Zweiner. Joseph-Emmanuel Zwiener (b. 1849) was a preeminent cabinetmaker (ébéniste) of German descent, who became one of the most famous furniture makers in late 19th Century Europe. Zwiener specialised in reproducing the designs of Louis XV pieces from public collections, which he then adapted with his own innovative interpretation of the traditional Rococo style.
