Description

A finely painted Royal Worcester cabinet plate dated 1921, featuring a still life of peaches, cherries and a small blue flower by Richard Sebright. The composition is a classic example of Sebright's work, with soft shading, balanced colour and strong three-dimensional modelling. The outer border of cobalt and pink is finished with raised gilding. The plate bears both the Royal Worcester and Maple & Co. marks, indicating a bespoke commission for the prestigious London retailer. A strong, decorative example of early 1920s Worcester fruit painting. ? Historical Background Sebright's fruit studies from the early 1920s are considered among his best, showing a mature handling of form and light. Maple & Co. supplied custom-ordered Worcester porcelain to aristocratic households and the royal family, making dual-marked examples appealing to collectors. ? Measurements • Diameter: 22.5 cm (8.85?) • Height: 2.7 cm (1.06?) • Weight: 434 g ? Condition Very good condition overall. No scratches, enamel losses or gilding wear to the front. The reverse shows light age-related glaze crazing visible only at an angle. Displays beautifully. ? Shipping & Packaging Tracked and insured...
