Description

This exceptional 19th Century oak centre table boasts a wonderfully figured circular tilt top raised on a triform base with scroll feet and countersunk castors. Pollard Oak has been masterfully employed to create a striking visual effect on this substantial Regency centre table. Conceived in the Greek Revival style popularised by Thomas Hope and championed by George Smith, this table exhibits a refined form that places emphasis on the highly decorative native veneers. Without a doubt, one of the best tops of this scale I have encountered. Excellent colour and condition. Circa 1820 PROVENANCE: From The Hemington House Collection. Please don't hesitate to contact us with any queries or to request additional photos.
