Description

You are viewing an exquisite pair of antique Japanese Kutani porcelain vases. These are from the Meije period circa 1890. Elongated form with eye-catching orange / red colour scheme. Hand-painted details - floral motifs, arabesques - on all surfaces. Kutani porcelain is a type of Japanese ceramic known for its vibrant colors and intricate designs, originating from the Kutani region in the 17th century. It often features bold, hand-painted motifs such as nature scenes, birds, and landscapes in a rich palette of red, green, blue, yellow, and purple. Renowned for its artistry, Kutani porcelain remains a valuable and collectible form of Japanese pottery today. Bought from a private house sale in London's St John's Wood. Offered in great shape ready for home use right away. We ship to every corner of the planet. Please get in touch for a shipping quote. Dimensions are in inches (CM): Width x Depth x Height 16 (41) x 15 (38) x 31 (79) TC
