Description

A fine small mahogany 18th century Georgian chest of drawers with a concealed dressing mirror and compartments below a baize covered brushing slide. The folding mirror is cross banded and has chequered inlay and there is a small secret drawer at the side of the fitted drawer. It has brass swan neck handles, and stands on well carved Ogee bracket feet. It is made from well figured mahogany and has a great colour and patina. A highly decorative and practical piece of furniture.
