Description

An elegant early 20th-century mahogany tower shop display cabinet, beautifully designed and ideal for jewellery, small collectables, or curated retail display. This slim, upright form was a staple of quality shopfitting's and especially used by jewellers in the early 20th century, built to offer maximum visibility with minimal footprint. The single glazed door is fitted with its original ornate cast-bronze handle, while the interior is fitted with thick glass shelves supported on solid brass brackets. Raised on a shaped mahogany plinth, the cabinet shows a warm original patina, and the gentle wear consistent with decades of careful use. Its tall, narrow profile makes it fantastic for both retail and residential interiors where vertical display is key.
