Description

An elegant early 20th-century mahogany display cabinet, from the 1900s, featuring a tall, slender form with near-full-height glazing on all sides. The cabinet is crafted in solid mahogany, retaining a rich, mellow finish developed naturally over time. It stands on shaped pad feet and is topped with a lightly moulded cornice, giving the piece a restrained yet graceful presence. It features its original brass side-turn handles. Inside are two fixed glass shelves, supported by shaped timber brackets, allowing clear panoramic visibility. The bottom shelf is wooden, showing a beautifully aged surface that adds character. ideal for displaying fine retail goods, collectibles, or museum pieces. Perfect for a boutique, gallery, or private collector wanting a refined and genuine antique display. H: 198 W: 56.5 D: 62 cm
