Description

A fine example of late Georgian craftsmanship, this handsome mahogany and crossbanded chest of drawers combines elegant simplicity with practical design. The rich mahogany veneers display beautiful figuring, enhanced by a soft patina that speaks to its age and quality. The chest features four full-width cockbeaded drawers, each fitted with classic brass oval plate handles with Prince of Wales feathers design. The drawers offer generous storage and run smoothly. A particularly desirable feature of this piece is its two-part construction, allowing it to be moved easily - perfect for period properties, cottages, or homes with narrow staircases. The elegant bracket feet and simple Georgian lines make it an adaptable piece that sits beautifully in both traditional and modern interiors. English, early 19th century.
