Description

A superb early 20th-century painted satinwood display cabinet, beautifully decorated in the Sheraton Revival manner with neoclassical pastoral scenes, floral garlands and refined linework. Finished with elegant astragal glazed doors and richly figured satinwood veneers, this is a striking statement piece perfect for refined interiors and collectors of period furniture. Key Features Hand-Painted Neoclassical Panels Oval pastoral scenes to the lower doors, executed in soft classical tones - a hallmark of high-quality Sheraton Revival furniture. Floral Garland & Ribbon Decoration Finely painted swags, entwined foliage and decorative motifs across the drawers and frieze - intricate, crisp and beautifully preserved. Satinwood Veneers with Excellent Figuring Warm golden satinwood throughout, with striking grain patterns and a glowing finish. Astragal Glazed Upper Doors Elegant geometric glazing bars offering excellent visibility for china, glass and decorative objects. Ample Storage & Display Space Upper display shelves behind glazed doors, with drawers and cupboards below providing practical enclosed storage. Elegant Sheraton-Style Silhouette Sweeping plinth base,...
