Description

A charming period Georgian tea caddy crafted from beautifully figured harewood, dating to circa 1790. The caddy features delicate oval inlays to the lid and front, finely executed in boxwood and sycamore, adding warmth and elegance to its classic form. Sympathetically restored while retaining its original patina throughout, the piece presents cleanly and authentically. The interior is plain and open, with the original inner lid no longer present—ideal for display or gentle use. A lovely example of late 18th-century craftsmanship, full of character and period appeal. Materials: Harewood, boxwood and sycamore Age: c.1790 Size: Length: 14cm Width: 9cm Height: 9.5cm

Internal Ref: 7842b
