Description

An Exceptional And Rare Design English Georgian Chippendale Period Mahogany Tallboy, Or Chest On Chest, Retaining Wonderful Rich Colour And Patina Throughout, Alongside Bold Original Brass Pierced Plate Handles, The Two Short And Six Long Drawers Surrounded By Superbly Carved Decoration To Mouldings, Blind Fretwork Decoration And Reeded Quarter Turned Columns To Each Corner, Raised On Very Unusual Original Shaped Ogee Bracket Feet. An absolutely wonderful example of its type this particular tallboy is in quite excellent condition and retains a wonderful untouched colour and patina to the mahogany surfaces. It is also of course slightly unusual and quirky in terms of the bottom section being taller than the top section and this is something which certainly adds to the overall appeal of the piece. All of the lovely brass plate handles appear to be original and all of the drawers still operate and function perfectly which is most certainly down to the quality of the original construction and the high grade secondary timbers used within the carcass and drawer linings of this piece. Tallboys, or Chest On Chests as they are often known are such useful, functional pieces of...
