Description

A gloriously wonky mid 18th century oak side table, with turned legs and a plank top. This little table has lots of character and to me is utterly charming. It would be ideal as a low table next to an armchair or sofa, or maybe as a coffee table. Condition: The table is not in any way level or square, but that is all part of it's charm! The top has a replacement piece on one side - please see the photos - and there a couple of holes in it, with gaps between the three planks. The top has various marks and signs of wear. There are a few old woodworm holes here and there - we have treated it as a precaution. There is wear to the feet. The table is sturdy and surprisingly heavy, and is a fully useable piece of furniture. Mainland UK delivery (excluding the Scottish highlands) is included in the price - if you would like a quote for delivery elsewhere, or if you would like to collect the item yourself, please get in touch. Delivery of furniture usually takes between 7 and 21 days from order, though can sometimes take longer. If you need an item by a certain date please speak to us prior to ordering and we'll try to help.
