Description

An antique Regency period mahogany tilt-top table, dating to the early 19th century (circa 1810–1830). The table features a square top with softly rounded corners, supported on a tripod base with brass casters, allowing for easy movement when in use. The table is centred by a distinctive twisted (spiral) column, a characteristic decorative detail of Regency design. The tilt-top mechanism allows the table to be stored flat against a wall when not in use, making it both practical and elegant. A versatile piece, ideal for use as an occasional table, lamp table, or side table.
