Description

A superb antique Victorian flame mahogany writing table, by Gillows, circa 1860 in date. The rectangular top features a moulded edge with a striking inset gold tooled green leather writing surface with two drawers in the frieze. The drawers with the original wooden knobs, solid mahogany linings and hand cut dovetails. It is raised on four decorative turned and reeded legs that terminate in brass and brown porcelain castors and bears the impressed mark of Gillows. It is finished on all sides so that it can stand freely in the middle of a room. Complete with working locks and keys. Condition: In excellent condition, please see photos for confirmation.
