Description

Very Fine 18th-Century George III Figured Mahogany & Ebony Inlaid Tray-Top Commode. A wonderful late 18th-century George III period mahogany tray-top commode, in good original condition. The rounded rectangular galleried top with pierced carrying handles sits above beautifully figured mahogany doors with ebony stringing, flanked by inlaid canted corners. Below is a single commode drawer with its original brass swan-neck handle and a shaped, waved apron, all raised on square moulded legs. This fine quality George III bedside cabinet is not only a testament to exceptional craftsmanship but also a striking focal point for any home or bedroom that values history and quality. The mahogany has developed a beautiful, rich patina over time, enhancing the depth and warmth of the timber – a hallmark of pieces from this era. Sturdy, strong and ready to use, it has all the charm of an English country house interior. Height 72cm (28.3in) Width 52cm (20.5in) Depth 46cm (18.1in)
