Description

A fine pair of late 19th century display cabinets, each of rectangular form veneered in richly figured kingwood banding and walnut sides, inlaid throughout with scrolling foliate decoration and classical motifs. The upper sections are fitted with glazed doors enclosing adjustable shelves, framed by finely chased gilt-bronze mounts, with further gilt-bronze mounts applied to the angles, apron and base. Each cabinet is finished with a moulded top above a shaped plinth base, retaining excellent colour and surface throughout. The pair is in very good condition, with crisp inlay and well-preserved gilt-bronze mounts.
