Description

A handsome set of six antique dining, side chairs, featuring elegant balloon-shaped backs, deep button-tufted upholstery and a rich, warm-toned hardwood frame. The chairs have a lovely traditional silhouette with turned front legs and classic detailing, and they retain a maker's plaque for Blyth & Sons (Manufacturers), Chiswell Street, London, which adds both charm and provenance. The upholstery is in a smart gold/olive tone, beautifully padded and very presentable, making these ideal for a dining room, period interior, boutique setting, or as statement occasional seating. Seat height: 44 cm Very good antique condition overall. Frames are solid and stable. There are visible signs of age and use to the woodwork small marks, scuffs consistent with age, but nothing that detracts from the overall look. Upholstery is very clean and presentable.
