Description

A Victorian oak hall stand of tall and impressive proportions, centred on a vertical upright with shaped cresting and original rectangular mirror plate, fitted with three tiers of horizontal arms carrying turned wooden pegs. Below is a finely shaped integrated umbrella stand with original divided drip tray. A practical piece for hanging for coats and hats in an entrance hall, but with real decorative appeal. The narrow footprint allows it to sit comfortably in tighter hall spaces where floor area is limited. Presented in very good antique condition, showing a warm aged patina and light surface wear consistent with age and use. Structurally sound, clean and ready to place in the home. English, circa 1890.
