Description

An attractive and good quality 'Smoker's Bow' or 'Captain's' armchair dating from the late 19th century. It has a comfortable wide and deep elm seat with broad arms, turned spindles and turned legs joined by a double stretcher. The rear of the seat is stamped with a number 2. It is approximately 29" (74cm) high and it is 25" (64cm) wide across the arms. The seat is approximately 20" (51cm) deep and 16" (41cm) high. It has lost a little bit of height as the bottom of the legs have worn over the years. It is in good condition for its age and is strong and sturdy. It has developed a lovely aged patina where the original paint and stain has worn attractively on the seat and areas of frequent use. The chair is not without a few small marks and signs of age but no major damages and nothing detrimental.
