Description

This is a fine quality English Art Deco cocktail cabinet, constructed in figured walnut, circa 1930, attributed to Harry & Lou Epstein Ltd., in excellent condition. This Art Deco furniture is decorated in stunning book-marked figured walnut timbers and constructed in the shape of a "skyscraper", with a taller central section, flanked by two lower side sections – classic Art Deco design. This Art Deco cocktail cabinet features a moulded breakfront centre, comprising two upper doors, which opens to reveal a mirrored interior. The left-hand door is furnished with a bottle opener and cork-screw. The right-hand door contains six cocktail sticks and the juicer bowl, which is secured in place on the right-hand wall. Both doors feature a small shelf, ideal for storing small bottles or glasses. The roof section is hinged and opens to activate the interior light, which illuminates the central well. The roof is secured by its original locking stay on the left-hand side. The interior retains the original glass panels. The original internal light fitting has been re-wired, tested and a new UK plug fitted, to ensure the electrics are in good working condition. The drawer below the central section is also visible.
