Description

A refined Edwardian satinwood side cabinet, beautifully decorated with hand-painted neo-classical panels depicting elegant female figures within oval reserves. The cabinet is enriched with further painted floral and foliate ornament throughout, all set against a warm satinwood ground that displays excellent colour and patina. The piece is fitted with two panelled doors opening to reveal a shelved interior, offering practical storage while retaining its decorative appeal. Above sits a single long drawer, and the cabinet is finished with a shaped glazed top, adding a further layer of refinement and protection. Raised on slender turned legs, the proportions are well balanced, making this cabinet ideal for use in a dining room, hallway, drawing room, or bedroom setting. Its light tone and painted decoration allow it to sit comfortably in both traditional and contemporary interiors. Elegant, decorative, and highly versatile, this is a strong example of Edwardian painted furniture with clear neo-classical influence.
