Description

This striking, authentic Art Deco lamp from the 1930s features a graceful female figure, beautifully gilt over spelter and poised atop a square stepped base. The sculpture captures the elegance and movement characteristic of the era, making it a captivating centrepiece for any collection. The lamp is topped with its original crackle glass shade, showcasing a soft pattern that casts a warm, atmospheric glow when lit. All elements are original to the piece, preserving its period charm and collectible value. The lamp has been rewired with modern electrical cable and finished with a braided fabric flex chosen to complement the style of the piece. It has also been PAT tested and is fully working. A rare find for Art Deco enthusiasts, vintage lighting collectors, or anyone seeking a unique statement piece with timeless style. Great condition, no damage to report. No restorations over painting, broken parts, cracks, chips, hairlines. She looks very attractive both off or lit. Standard English bayonet sized fitting. FREE UK MAINLAND SHIPPING
