Description

Valentine Thomas Garland British, (1845-1914) Fox Terrier Puppies Oil on panel, signed & dated 1901, exhibition label verso Image size: 13.5 inches x 9.5 inches Size including frame: 20.25 inches x 16.25 inches Exhibited: Bristol Art Gallery loan exhibition of 1906, no.182. Provenance: Arthur Robinson Esquire, 1906. A lovely sporting animal painting of fox terrier puppies, by Valentine Thomas Garland. Three fox terrier puppies are depicted nestled in a black riding hat which rests on a scarlet hunting jacket. In the background to the right, part of a saddle can also be made out. Underneath the hat the ends of a silver mounted riding crop and brass hunting bugle are shown sticking out. A riding stirrup can also be seen in the lower foreground and bears the artist's signature. This painting was exhibited at the Bristol Art Gallery loan exhibition of April 1906, no.182 and at the time was owned by Arthur Robinson Esquire (1855-1914). Dogs were a favourite subject of Garland's and he was particularly fond of painting fox terriers, as seen in this fine example. Arthur Robinson was born in Clifton, Bristol in 1855 and lived at Lawrence Weston, Henbury, near Bristol. In 18...
