Description

A fine quality French rouge marble four-glass mantel clock by Le Roy & Fils, 13 - 15 Palais Royal Paris, Circa 1880. The superior quality case with moulded marble and shaped cornice with gilded bead moulding, over marble upright quadrant corners and bevelled glass panels surrounded by gilded cast brass moulding. Fully opening rear door and opening bezel to the front, with gilded brass interior. The shaped and moulded stepped base with gilded moulding decoration, over shaped gilded pad feet. The variegated rouge marble is in excellent condition, having a beautiful deep red colour. The decorative brass case mouldings retain the original gilded surface throughout and the interior has the original gilded surfaces. The fine quality fully restored 8 day four pillar circular movement, striking the hours and half hour on a single bell, with Brocot regulation, stamped to the backplate Le Roy & Fils, 13154 Paris. The clock keeps excellent time and the bell strike has a very good sound and tone. The original gilded brass bob pendulum with polished steel rod, a very good pendulum of substantial quality. The convex white enamel dial with Roman numeral chapter ring and outer Arabic n...
